JD(S) to surrender two Cabinet berths to Congress

- All three vacancies to be filled by Cong. rebels
- Compromise formula to quell dissidence
- State BJP ready for polls if Assembly is dissolved

Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy and his Deputy Dr. G. Parameshwara seen cajoling rebel Congress MLA Mahesh Kumthalli at the lawns of Vidhana Soudha in Bengaluru this morning.

Bengaluru, May 27 (KMS& BCT)- Having registered a massive win in the Lok Sabha polls — a clear majority at the Centre and 25 out of 28 seats in Karnataka — the State BJP is reviving efforts to topple the Kumaraswamy-led JD(S)-Congress Coalition Government in Karnataka using the already identified rebels. And to quell dissent and desperate to save the one-year-old government, the JD(S) has decided to sacrifice its quota of two Ministerial berths in favour of Congress.

The Congress rebel group led by former Minister Ramesh Jarkiholi is likely to come out of the party anytime from now thus threatening the stability of the government. At present, the Congress has one vacancy and the JD(S), two in their respective quota of Ministerial berths.

As per the latest decision by the JD(S), all the three Ministerial berths will now go to Congress and three people supporting Ramesh Jarkiholi — Mahesh Kumthalli, B. Nagendra and B.C. Patil — are expected to be made Ministers. Jarkiholi will be left out as neither the Congress nor Kumaraswamy are inclined to give a Minister's post to him.

The Congress vacancy was created following the demise of Municipal Administration Minister C.S. Shivalli while one of JD(S) was due to resignation of Primary and Secondary Education Minister N. Mahesh of the BSP and the other due to non-filling of the berth since the formation of the Cabinet a year ago.

With more than 10 Congress MLAs reportedly working behind the scenes to quit the post and join the BJP, Kumaraswamy, rattled by the political developments on Sunday, held a late night meeting with CLP leader and former CM Siddharamaiah yesterday and discussed about Cabinet expansion, in order to placate the disgruntled MLAs.

Today morning, Kumaraswamy and his deputy Dr. G. Parameshwara met Mahesh Kumthalli behind the statue of Jawaharlal Nehru at Vidhana Soudha in Bengaluru and assured him of a Ministerial berth.

No Cabinet reshuffle

Meanwhile, Siddharamaiah, who is in Mysuru, this morning said that there will not be any Cabinet reshuffle next week but the existing vacancies will be filled.

Militants and Military

The land's people seem to be sandwiched between its armed forces and rogue elements, euphemistically identified as terrorists or militants preoccupied with terrorism, a term that has tended to be understood as an activity motivated mainly by religion. Not being a 21st century phenomenon, according to chroniclers, it has its roots dating back to several centuries with many examples in many regions of the world, India hosting the offending flock both within its territory and borders of well-marked hostile neighbouring country. Pages of history say that Pindaris were regular plunderers of 17th to 19th century India before being eliminated in the beginning of 19th century, 1817 to be exact. They were said to be not paid for their acts while their compensation was entirely the loot they plundered, apart from committing murders of whoever resisted them. The other example of those indulging in acts of threatening people is Razakars primarily by shooting whoever opposed the rule of the then Hyderabad. Presently, the country is bugged by two outfits, namely Naxals and Maoists whose disruptive acts are being regularly reported by the media.

Keeping vigil on migrants from outside and troublesome elements in society is known to have been in vogue in most of the erstwhile kingdoms across the subcontinent, about which narratives in the epics also mention. The current version of that age-old practice happens to be in place with the staff of law-keeping wing of the Government identified as Men in plain clothes.

Portraying the outfits engaged in disruptive acts such as planting explosive devices in places of worship and in crowded locations, crashing motorised vehicles loaded with bombs in suicidal mode, shoot-outs killing unarmed people, destroying installations of public utilities and so on as terrorists and militants has tended to glorify them. They are unarguably rogue elements who should be shown their place mercilessly. Successful attempts at reforming them on early occasions by Vinobha Bhave and Jayaprakash Narayan don't seem to work in today's scenario surcharged with religion-based bigotry. Armed forces and the country's Police are being dared by the rogue elements in some well-marked pockets across the country, thanks to the backing of politicos chasing their ambitions of grabbing power in the Government.

In sum, while India's spend on defence is reportedly second highest in the world, the cost of safeguarding internal security also soaring, the land's people will do well, joining hands with the administration by keeping vigil on the acts of disruptive outfits, glorified as militants.

WHAT CONNECTS SPIRITUALITY AND LAW: When we read newspapers or watch TV news, it becomes evident that attacks on senior citizens have increased substantially in the last couple of years. In most cases, it is observed that the culprits turn out to be their long-trusted aides and acquaintances who rob them of their life's savings and don't spare them either. Though such incidents get media attention for a while, little comes out of it in the long run. Under such a scary scenario, there is not only growing distrust in the Government and the Law and Order machinery, but also lack of faith in interpersonal relationships. The need of the hour is to lay emphasis on developing a culture which produces human beings of benign conduct. In the above cases, greed for money led the people to perform immoral acts. This does amount to a breach of law, but it begins with a breach of morality. Unfortunately, no one dares to talk of morality these days, for fear of being accused of 'moral policing.' — Brahmakumar Nikunj in Deccan Herald

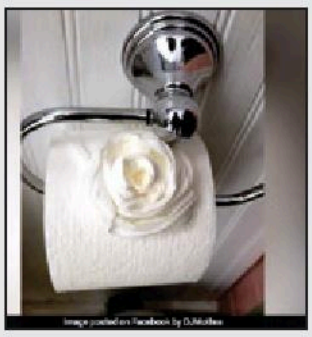
Intruder breaks into house and cleans it !



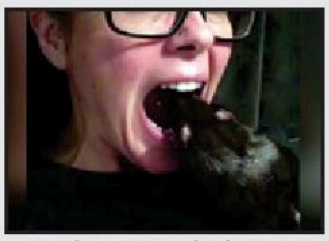
Rome: It's the break-in we all deserve, but only one man in Massachusetts, USA, was fortunate enough to actually receive. Nate Roman from Marlborough came home from work on May 15 to find his front door unlocked.

"My son said, 'Dad! The door is unlocked' which I have done once every blue moon and didn't think anything of it. But when we walked in immediately there was a vibe that something was wrong in the house," Nate told.

What he found next surprised him completely — his home had been cleaned and tidied up completely by some mysterious intruder.

Nate says he found his son's room, usually a wreck, to be in pristine condition. His own room had been similarly cleaned up. Nothing was amiss, and in the toilet, someone had crafted a rose out of toilet paper.

"Crazy Rat Lady" lets critters crawl all over her



London: At London's upmarket Hampstead, Veronica Diaz lives with her seven rats, a cat and a hamster. The self-proclaimed "crazy rat lady" reveals in a video to Press Association that the much-maligned rodents are allowed to cuddle with her, crawl over her, and even examine her mouth! For Veronica, these rodents are just like any other pets, and she wants the world to see them as such.

"Keeping rats has been hugely rewarding and fulfilling for me and I would just like others to know that they are not horrible pests but lovable little animals like any other," says the 44-year-old office manager, defending her rather unusual choice of pets.

Veronica refers to her seven rats as her "fur babies", and they are all friendly with her cat, Loki. When one of them dies, she replaces it with another from a breeder or a rescue centre.

VOICE OF THE READER

The open bar and its results !

Sir,

It is sad to see the remnants of the previous evening's party littered in the streets. The liquor manufacturers seem to have made things so easy for the bibbers. I see that the liquor comes in cans, in packs and small plastic bottles. The water bottles come in plastic too. The snack packets for the 'sides' also come in plastic covers and are dreadfully inexpensive.

So for those who don't want to spend a lot sitting in an expensive bar, they have discovered a new way of partying. They invade the so-called 'Standing Bars' or pack the liquor and snacks and sit on the edges of the Ring Road and party away.

The result is horrendous. For instance, there is a bar and restaurant at the end of the Ring Road at Dattagalli which is quite popular with the bibbers. But the early morning walkers are greeted with empty, broken bottles, cans, packs, plastic covers, plastic cups strewn all over the place.

One can see that the regulars have removed a few slabs above the drain and have been stuffing them with bottles and the like. What's sad is that garbage is accumulating in alarming proportions as the place is out of reach of the civic authorities responsible for cleaning the streets.

The sight is disgusting. The broken glass pieces are dangerous. It also gives a wrong impression for the tourists who enter the city from that direction.

This growing menace is to be nipped at the earliest. It is better if the Police patrol these places till late in the evening and put fear in the people responsible for littering. Who knows there may even be potential chain-snatchers among them!? The above photos say it all.

BJP leaders, rebel Congress MLAs call on S.M. Krishna

Bengaluru, May 27 (KMS&DM)- Even as Narendra Modi is set to take oath as Prime Minister for the second term on May 30 following the BJP's emphatic victory in the just concluded Lok Sabha polls, top BJP leaders including B.S. Yeddyurappa (BSY) and R. Ashok called on former Chief Minister and veteran BJP leader S.M. Krishna (SMK) at the latter's Sadashivanagar residence here yesterday.

Shortly after State BJP Chief Yeddyurappa and the newly-elected Independent MP from Mandya Sumalatha Ambarish arrived at Krishna's residence, rebel Congress MLAs Ramesh Jarkiholi and Dr. K. Sudhakar too turned up at the former Union Minister's residence, which has given rise to suspicions on their future political plans. Ramesh Jarkiholi and Sudhakar are said to have held talks with Krishna BSY and Ashok for over 30 minutes.

The talks were mainly focussed on bringing down the JD(S)-Congress coalition Government in the State, it is learnt.

Sumalatha Ambarish, who won as an Independent candidate from Mandya LS constituency, being greeted by former Chief Minister and veteran BJP leader S.M. Krishna when she called on the latter at his Sadashivanagar residence in Bengaluru yesterday. She was accompanied by BJP leaders R. Ashok and B.S. Yeddyurappa.

Before meeting Krishna, Gokak Congress MLA Ramesh Jarkiholi, who is purportedly leading the Congress dissident camp, reportedly held talks with another rebel MLA Mahesh Kumthalli from Athani.

Meanwhile, State BJP Chief Yeddyurappa dismissed reports on Operation Lotus as mere speculations. Referring to the visit of rebel Congress MLAs to the residence of Krishna, Yeddyurappa said that the duo are fans of Krishna and as such they had come to meet the veteran leader.

Maintaining that their (BSY & Ashok) meeting with the rebel Congress duo was merely co-incidence, Yeddyurappa asserted that the meeting was not part of Operation Lotus.

Ramesh Jarkiholi and Dr. Sudhakar react

Amidst intense speculations on Operation Lotus, Ramesh Jarkiholi said on Sunday that if at all he wishes to quit the Assembly, then his entire group would quit.

Speaking to press persons at Krishna's residence, Ramesh claimed that he did not hold political talks with the senior BJP leader.

Maintaining that he had visited Krishna to enquire about his health, Ramesh reiterated that he would not be a loner in quitting the Assembly as the entire rebel group would quit en masse, if the situation demands. He also said that he would inform the media well before he quits. Chikkaballapur MLA Dr. K. Sudhakar said that he visited Krishna to enquire about his health.

He further said that Krishna was a senior politician and commands respect from across political parties.

Rebel Congress MLAs Ramesh Jarakiholi and K. Sudhakar also called on SMK yesterday.

'I am ready to quit MLC post for Dhruvanarayan'

Mysuru, May 27 (PM&DM)- Announcing that he was ready to quit his post for the sake of R. Dhruvanarayan, who was defeated from Chamarajanagar Lok Sabha (LS) seat, Congress MLA R. Dharmasena said that it was very unfortunate that Dhruvanarayan lost in the LS polls.

Addressing a press meet at Pathrakartara Bhavan here yesterday, an emotional Dharmasena said that the Congress party workers were deeply saddened by the defeat of R. Dhruvanarayan, who was outstanding in performance from among our State MPs.

Dharmasena Dhruvanarayan

Maintaining that R. Dhruvanarayan was a simple and honest man who always chose to be among the people, Dharmasena observed that leaders like the former MP should not remain out of power and as such he was ready to quit his MLC post to make way for Dhruvanarayan.

Dharmasena further said that the KPCC must consider his decision and give power to Dhruvanarayan, as the Congress needed such powerful leaders to catapult to power.

Chamarajanagar District Congress President Mariswamy, who also addressed the press meet, said that the voters of Chamarajanagar have to repent soon for making a wrong choice.

Claiming that R. Dhruvanarayan was among the best MPs from the State, he highlighted the achievements of the former MP and added that Chamarajanagar needed such leaders at this crucial moment.

B.C. Patil to quit Congress?

Haveri, May 27- Rumours are rife in the Northern Karnataka district of Haveri, that Hirekerur Congress MLA B.C. Patil may quit the Congress after being denied a Cabinet berth in the Coalition Govt.

B.C. Patil

B.C. Patil, a three-time MLA from Hirekerur and a Lingayat strongman, is said to be upset with the Congress for denying him a Cabinet berth all these days.

B.C . Patil, also a former Police officer and an actor, began his political career by getting elected as an MLA on a JD(S) ticket for the first time. He later quit the JD(S) and joined the Congress and won twice from Hirekerur on a Congress ticket.

But feeling sidelined in the party, Patil is said to be looking at the option of joining the BJP.

B.C. Patil is also said to be upset over improper representation to Veerashaiva-Lingayat community in the State Cabinet.

CM HDK meets ex-CM Siddu

Bengaluru, May 27- Even as rebel Congress MLAs met veteran BJP leader S.M. Krishna, giving rise to speculations of an imminent Operation Lotus to poach MLAs from the ruling JD(S)-Congress coalition, a rattled Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy (HDK) rushed to the residence of CLP leader and former CM Siddharamaiah here last night to chalk out plans for thwarting Operation Lotus.

The two leaders, in a prolonged meeting, worked out strategies for saving the Coalition Government from collapse.

During the meeting, the two leaders are said to have discussed plans on expanding the State Cabinet by inducting three MLAs from the rebel camp.

At present, the State Cabinet has three vacant berths and the Congress and JD(S) leaders believe that filling them up immediately may put a brake on the BJP's efforts to topple the Government through Operation Lotus, according to sources.

Free saplings for those with green fingers

Forest Department to distribute 9 lakh saplings to farmers; 50,000 saplings will be planted within city limits

Mysuru, May 27 (MTY&BCT)- In a major move to increase green cover in Mysuru and surrounding areas, the Forest Department has decided to distribute 9 lakh saplings to the farmers as part of World Environment Day next month. This apart, the Department will plant over 50,000 saplings in Mysuru city limits.

The mega sapling distribution and planting drive will be launched on World Environment Day on June 5. To cater to the demand, the Department has already grown saplings of different species at its seven nurseries.

The saplings include trees with high timber value such as Teak, Rosewood and Mahogany. Medicinal plants too adorn the collection in some of the nurseries. Those who want to have saplings that are grown for shades too will have plenty of options. A majority of the plants are of flowering and fruit-bearing trees. Apart from wild trees, the popular saplings include Jackfruit, Mango, Njaval (Jamun), Teak, Guava, Anjili and Gooseberry.

Forest officials said that there is a great demand from farmers for Sandalwood, Teak, Hebbevu and Silver Oak saplings as these trees can fetch good returns when they grow.

Many farmers in Hunsur, Periyapatna and surrounding areas have grown these trees and over the years, they have gained huge profits.

Realising the potential and demand for the trees, the Department will distribute such tree species in and around Mysuru, T. Narasipur, H.D. Kote and Hunsur. Forest Department officials say the main targeted beneficiaries of the green initiative are farmers and students from various educational institutions. Nearly nine lakh plants will be distributed in quality grow bags.

Deputy Conservator of Forests Dr. Prashanth Kumar said that the Government is encouraging farmers and residents to grow more and more trees and as an incentive, farmers are given Rs. 100 (per three years) if saplings are procured from the Department and are grown in their lands. This Rs. 100 is divided into three instalments per year and the first and second year, the farmer will get Rs. 30 each per tree and in the third year, he will get Rs. 40, Dr. Prashanth Kumar added.

Forest Department officials say the distribution will begin in full swing with the reopening of schools in June. Since the season is favourable now, local bodies too are interested in supporting the scheme and plant saplings in their own limits.

Coming to city limits, the Department will plant 50,000 saplings in new layouts including KSRTC Layout, Police Academy, Mounted Police Office, Roopanagar and new areas that have been formed in Vijayanagar.

Saplings like Honge, Tabebuia, Maththi, Banyan, Peepal and Sampige will be planted by the side of the roads.

These saplings will take up to five years to provide shade. The Department has invited local associations and residents welfare associations to come forward to take saplings from the nurseries and plant the same in their areas.

Pedestrian killed as bike hits

Mysuru, May 27 (SBD&NNN)- An employee of MYMUL (Mysore Milk Union Limited) died when a two-wheeler hit him while he was walking on the road in Siddarthanagar. The unfortunate victim is Paramesh (45), a resident of Mandya.

The incident occurred on Saturday when Paramesh was walking near the Ice-Cream Parlour close to the Milk Dairy on Mahadeshwara Road. A bike rider (KA-55 R 6065) reportedly came at breakneck speed from Nazarbad side and hit Paramesh, who was walking on the side of the road. As a result, he suffered serious head injuries and bled profusely.

He was immediately rushed by the public to the nearby Gopala Gowda Shanthaveri Memorial Hospital in an unconscious condition. However, the doctors informed that he had passed away midway itself.

Siddarthanagar Traffic Police have registered a case and further investigation is on.

Work to remove silt from Pinjrapole Lake begins

Mysuru, May 27 (RKB&BCT)- Krishnaraja MLA S.A. Ramdas performed Shramadaan yesterday to remove silt from the Pinjrapole Lake at the foot of Chamundi Hill. The Lake has been covered in silt and the water storage capacity of the Lake has reduced drastically.

Pinjrapole Lake gets water from rainwater outlets from Chamundi Hill and due to the silt accumulation, water that has been collected in the Lake overflows. Realising the urgent need of desilting the Lake, Ramdas performed guddali puja for the silt removal works.

The MLA said that the Lake feeds livestock and its water is used to grow fodder for the animals. More water can be stored in the Lake if silt is removed and the desilting work has been initiated by a private firm under its Amruth Jal Yojana. Umesh Raj, Manikchand, Heerachand, Lalitchand Jain, Vinod Jain, Shanthilal Jain, Kailash Bhandari and Ramesh Jain were present.

Unidentified bodies found

Mysuru, May 27- The body of an unidentified man aged about 45 years was found on the Railway Track between Pandavapura and Byadarahalli Stations of Mysuru-Bengaluru section on May 24.

Empowering aspirations through symbols

Known as the Imperial Guardians, Fu Dogs are actually stylised lions and will serve as guardians of your home and wealth when placed facing main doors.

Feng Shui corrections are based on the compass directions, afflictions and effect of the immediate surroundings and luck of the occupants. Once we have an understanding of all these factors and data in the form of property layout, compass directions are available the possible ways one can overcome the ill effects can be explored.

Adapting Feng Shui one can do a quick analysis of the home or workplace and ascertain where the beneficial sectors are situated in the home and activate them and also looking for the problematic areas or bad sectors and correcting them with appropriate cures. By adding elements and symbols in specific areas one can attract positive Chi or energy into the place of work or home.

There are few simple methods in activating the kind of aspiration you have, say for example if its work place, you can create more job opportunities, you can achieve this by suspending at a good sector of your work place preferably North, three metal Chinese coins tied with a red ribbon.

Ensure coins are from a prosper phase or era and you can also generate self support by having a photo of mountain behind your work chair.

Similarly, if one is aspiring to activate love or marriage luck, identifying the good sector in the home to support this aspiration and empowering it with appropriate symbolism would help. To activate relationship and marriage, one can place at the appropriate sector rose quartz heart or a pair of mandarin ducks, but ensure that the correct element for the specific sector is used as element are the most important aspect of any remedy or cure.

With the growing popularity of Feng Shui symbolism, the traditional school of Feng Shui based on compass and formulas have also gained popularity as both go hand in glove and symbolism cannot exist without a proper understanding of the directions and the five elements in Feng Shui.

There are many traditional Feng Shui symbols and calligraphy. Most of these symbols can be found in the form of a statue or as paintings in mainland. Adapting these symbols are good, however, one needs to be careful when selecting the symbols as going overboard with symbols creates nothing more than clutter.

Symbols do have a deeper meaning and from ancient times, they have been used quite effectively in creating a harmonious place. Some of the popular Feng Shui symbols are as follows:

- Crane: Symbolises good health and long life and when placed in your home or bedroom it empowers this aspect of your life.
- Dragon: Symbolises authority and brings in excellent career luck.
- Fu Dogs: Known as the Imperial Guardians are actually stylised lions and will serve as guardians of your home and wealth when placed facing main doors.
- Lucky Bamboo: This a good symbol to attract money and wealth. Place a Lucky Bamboo plant at the front entrance of your home.
- Three-legged Toad: The three-legged toad is a protector of wealth and also attracts great abundance into your life when placed on the floor.
- Turtle Dragon: This icon is the harbinger of great luck and tremendous wealth.

'Be careful before prescribing antibiotics'

IAP South Zone Vice-President Dr. Shrinath B. Mugali's advise to doctors

Mysuru, May 27 (PM&NNN)- Indiscriminate use of antibiotics has rendered it ineffective and led to the rapid spread of antimicrobial resistance, said Indian Academy of Paediatrics (IAP) South Zone Vice-President Dr. Shrinath B. Mugali.

He was speaking at the "Antimicrobials Stewardship Module" launch organised by the IAP, IAP Infectious Diseases (ID) Chapter and IAP Mysore District Branch at Sri Rajendra Centenary Auditorium in JSS Hospital premises here yesterday.

"In our country, over prescription of antibiotics and ability to purchase and use of antibiotics even without prescription has resulted in standard treatments becoming ineffective. Antibiotic Stewardship Protocols help to optimise treatment of infections and reduce the adverse events and resistance associated with antibiotic use. In this background, all those in the profession of medicine must be careful before prescribing antibiotics," said Dr. Shrinath Mugali.

JSS Medical College Principal Dr. H. Basavana Gowdappa, speaking after inaugurating the programme, said that due to the availability of effective vaccines and the maintenance of hygiene in the hospitals, the incidences of infections are on the decline.

However, a situation has arisen where the use of antibiotics in treating Tuberculosis (TB) is on the wane. Hence, the doctors should be morally responsible to use the antibiotics only when it is required, he said.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, IAP Mysore President Dr. Rajeshwari Madappa said that each year, more than seven lakh people die worldwide, due to antimicrobial resistant infections.

Antimicrobial resistance is the ability of bacteria, virus or other parasites to stop the working of antibiotics, antiviral and anti-malarial. As a result, standard treatments become ineffective, she said. Those who are not MBBS doctors, advise the patients who come to them to take antibiotics. This is not correct as it results in people becoming ill. Hence, patients must be careful in going only to qualified medical doctors and taking their advice. The public should understand that for common cough and cold there is no need for taking antibiotics, she said.

> If a person unnecessarily takes antibiotics and if there is an antimicrobial resistance, the effect is not just on the person taking it but it could adversely impact the whole community.
> —Dr. Rajeshwari Madappa, President, IAP, Mysore Branch

Earlier, small antibiotics would work effectively against microbes or germs. However, this is not the status today. In the last 10 years, there are no new inventions of antibiotics. In developed countries like America without prescription, the drug shop owners will never dispense medicines. But in our country, we do not have such stringent laws, said Dr. Rajeshwari Madappa, expressing concern.

More than 100 people including doctors, nursing staff, infection control officials, laboratory staff, microbiologists and pathologists participated in the Antimicrobial Stewardship programme.

Dr. D. Narayanappa, Dr. Sanjay Ghorpade, Dr. Shyam Kukreja and Dr. H.C. Krishna Kumar of IAP Mysore Branch were present at the training programme.

Modi to be sworn-in as PM on May 30 at 7 pm

Amit Shah might get Home, Rajnath Singh Defence, Nirmala Sitharaman External Affairs

Prime Minister-elect Narendra Modi seeking blessings of his mother Heeraben Modi in Ahmedabad on Sunday prior to taking oath as Prime Minister for the second term.

New Delhi, May 27 (UNI)- Prime Minister-elect Narendra Modi will be administered the oath of office and secrecy with his Council of Ministers on May 30, according to a statement from the Rashtrapati Bhavan released on Sunday.

The announcement came four days after Modi's Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) notched up a massive victory in the just concluded LS polls. Modi's BJP-led National Democratic Alliance (NDA) returned to power on Thursday winning 353 seats, beating its 2014 tally of 336 seats. The BJP alone won 303 seats, a considerable increase from the 282 seats it had won the last time.

"The President will administer the oath of office and secrecy to the Prime Minister and other members of Union Council of Ministers on May 30 at Rashtrapati Bhavan," said an official statement from the President's office yesterday afternoon.

The statement followed President Ram Nath Kovind on Saturday inviting Modi to form the Government. Modi had met the President to stake claim to form the Government after a delegation of senior leaders of the NDA met the President and handed over letters of support. The NDA had met on Saturday and unanimously elected Modi as the Leader of the Parliamentary Party. He was then authorised to stake claim to form the Government.

With the swearing-in ceremony set to take place on May 30, a person familiar with the development said that arrangements were being made for the event to be held outside the Rashtrapati Bhavan like in 2014.

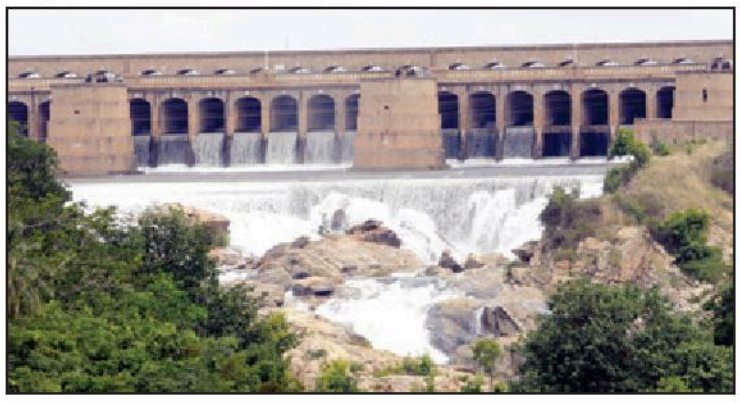
In 2014, Modi had invited Heads of State and Government from all South Asian countries besides the Prime Minister of Maldives. This time too, some "key foreign dignitaries are expected," two people familiar with the developments said, though the Indian Foreign Ministry has not confirmed any foreign leader's presence at the ceremony.

The selection of Council of Ministers is expected to be interesting given that the BJP has continued with its move for a generation shift during the general elections. Although there is speculation about the fate of some of the senior Ministers who were part of the Council of Ministers earlier, it is possible that some of the Ministers may not find place in it again.

There is speculation that BJP President Amit Shah, elected to the Lok Sabha from Ahmedabad, could be given the Home Ministry portfolio, with incumbent Rajnath Singh being moved to Defence and Nirmala Sitharaman, who has held the Defence portfolio, being shifted to External Affairs given that incumbent Sushma Swaraj decided against contesting the elections. Dharmendra Pradhan and Ravi Shankar Prasad were expected to continue in the second Modi Cabinet.

Rumour has it that Textiles Minister Smriti Irani, who defeated Congress President Rahul Gandhi from Amethi, could be given an important portfolio.

Cauvery Water Regulatory Committee to visit Cauvery basin dams from June 4



Mysuru, May 27 (RK&DM)- Following the directions of the Supreme Court-constituted Cauvery Water Management Authority (CWMA), the members of Cauvery Water Regulatory Committee (CWRC) will be visiting eight reservoirs coming under Cauvery basin, for online monitoring system through telemetry-based real time data acquisition and transmission, starting from June 4.

The Panel will begin their task by first visiting KRS in Srirangapatna taluk on June 4 and 5.

Speaking to SOM in this backdrop this morning, Cauvery Neeravari Nigam Ltd. (CNNL) Superintending Engineer (SE) H.C. Ramendra, who is also a member of the Committee, clarified that the visit is no way concerned with Cauvery water sharing between the four riparian States of Karnataka, Kerala, Tamil Nadu and Puducherry.

Pointing out that the Committee is presently dealing on issues such as how to improve efficiency of Cauvery basin dams, enhancement of dam capacity, plugging leakages, maintenance of canals etc., Ramendra said that the Committee will take stock on the current status regarding these issues.

Continuing, he said that the Committee will make a study of water level sensors on the eight reservoirs of the basin and discharge / flow rate sensors on all canals / outlets taking off from them, that are proposed to be installed to measure the levels / outflows accurately.

After completion of the task, the members will submit the report to CWMA within six weeks, he said and added that the Committee has members from all four riparian States.

As per schedule, the Committee will begin with its task by first visiting KRS on June 4 and 5, Mettur Dam (Stanley Reservoir), Lower Bhavani Reservoir and Amaravathi Reservoir, all in Tamil Nadu from June 7 to 9, seven contact points already in operation between Tamil Nadu and Puducherry on June 9 and 10. Hemavathi Reservoir, Harangi Reservoir and Kabini Reservoir, all in Karnataka from June 17 to 20 and Banasurasagar Reservoir in Kerala on June 24 and 25.

Referring to low water level in KRS, Ramendra said there was no cause of worry on the drinking water front, as water supplies to Mysuru and Bengaluru will not be affected.

Reassuring the citizens that there will be no drinking water crisis, he said that the CNNL has taken all necessary measures for ensuring uninterrupted drinking water supply.

KSOU students can now write exams

Now according to the new rules called N+2 (number of years of the courses plus two years) , the students will have just two years extra to pass the exams and not like earlier where it was the double the period equivalent to the course, said Prof. Shivalingaiah.

Admissions open

The Karnataka State Open University (KSOU) has opened admissions for students to 31 programmes for July 2019 cycle.

The last date for admissions as prescribed by University Grants Commission (UGC) is Aug.31.

So far 31,720 students have visited the KSOU website www.ksoumysore.kar.gov.in; Out of this, 77 students have already been admitted to various programmes during the academic year 2019-20 and 759 students have registered, he said.

He also pointed out that 12,000 students who were admitted during the academic year 2018-19, may also appear for the examinations as per the schedules prescribed in the time-table of KSOU.

Permission to continue Research Work

He said that the admission to research students for pursuing Ph.D degree was discontinued since the UGC had withdrawn recognition to KSOU with effect from 2012-13.

However, the UGC has restored the recognition. Therefore, the University has taken a decision to permit research students to those who had registered their names as per the Regulations of 2008 and 2012 to continue their research work relating to Ph.D degree, said Prof. Shivalingaiah.

Skill Development Training

Along with admission to various programmes in KSOU, the students have opted for different Skill Development Training such as Administrative Kannada, English for Communication and Soft-skills, Web Designing, Computer Fundamentals, Desk Top Publishing (DTP), Multimedia and Basics of Networking, he said.

Post Graduate students will undergo Skill Development Training programme in three stages while the Under-Graduate students in two stages, he added.

It is mandatory on the part of the students to undergo this Skill Development Training programmes regularly. This training programmes will be conducted from June 2, to June 30 at Mysuru, Bengaluru, Davangere, Dharwad, Kalaburagi and Udupi, he said.

KSOU Registrar Prof. B. Ramesh was also present.

On Ramesh Jarakiholi and Congress MLA Dr. K. Sudhakar meeting senior BJP leader S.M. Krishna yesterday, Siddharamaiah said that the meeting was just a coincidence. “Both Jarkiholi and Sudhakar have said that their visit to Krishna was a courtesy call and not a political meeting. They wanted to wish Krishna after the BJP won 25 seats in Karnataka. Both Jarkiholi and Sudhakar did not know that BJP leaders including R. Ashok would be present at Krishna’s residence. This is just a coincidence,” he said.

The BJP, which won 104 seats in last year’s Assembly elections, had been kept out of power by a post-poll coalition forged by the Congress (80 seats), and the JD(S) (37), in the 224-member House where 113 is the simple majority.

Meanwhile, the State BJP leadership’s hands seem to be tied for now by the party High Command. Efforts to topple the State Government will only begin after the swearing-in of the new Government at the Centre led by Narendra Modi, party sources said.

Yeddyurappa has said that his party was ready for an election if the State Government dissolves the Assembly. “If the Assembly is dissolved today and we go in for fresh polls, there is no doubt that we will win 175 seats (out of 224). It is for this reason that the coalition is trying to overcome personal animosity and Kumaraswamy has met Siddharamaiah to seek help to save this Government. However, even now at least 18-20 Congress MLAs are unhappy and are not ready to accept Kumaraswamy as their Chief Minister. They might take any decision and I am waiting for that,” he added.

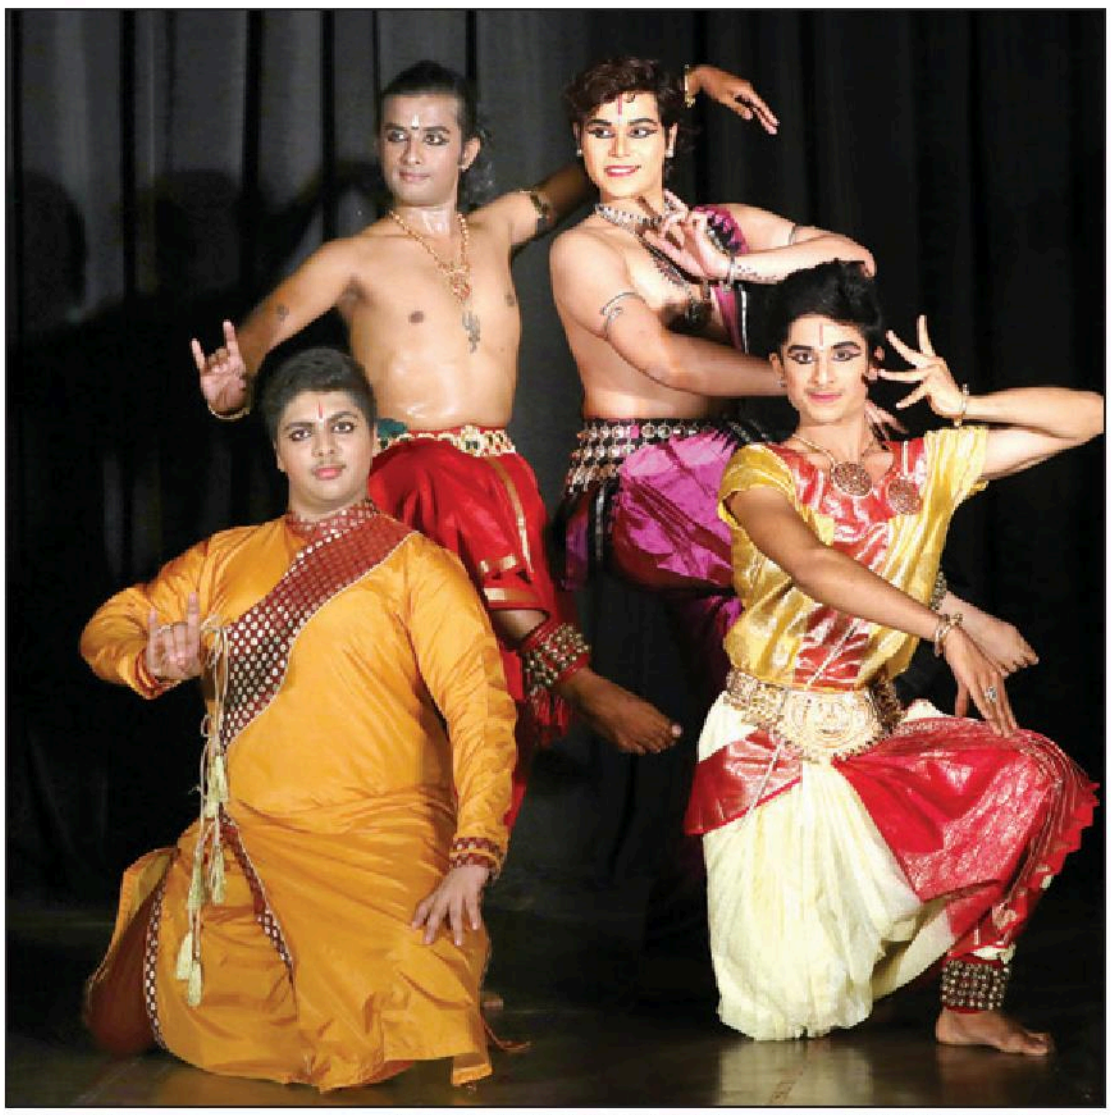
Articulate Fest-36: Test of Testosterone

The Articulate Festival-36 on May 19, at Veene Seshanna Bhavana in Kuvempunagar, Mysuru, witnessed a test of testosterone. The four artistes who descended onto the stage, in turn, presenting four different Classical Dance forms of India proved, beyond doubt, that Classical Dance is not prerogative of women, even men can dance like a man, of course with the inevitable touch of estrogen, for dance is a fine art. Male dancers came from Trivandrum, Rourkela and Bengaluru, with pride did they dance and found a place in the hearts of the rasikas.



Kalidas S. Panicker, currently tutored in dance by Guru Kalakshetra Jisha Raghav, set a divine ambiance with his Bharatanatyam opening act of Kumara Kouthvam, "Saravana Ponthadathil" in chaste Tamil. A composition of Madhurai R. Muraleedharan, set in Ragamalika and Aadhi Tala. Kalidas treated the prekshaka with a Vyasaraya Kannada kriti "Krishna Nee Begane Baaro" in Yaman Kalyani and Mishra Chaapu Tala in his concluding performance. Both the numbers were choreographed by the artiste himself.

Kalidasa's understanding the nuances of Bharatanatyam was very much in evidence in his geometrically precise movements that gave a very good first impression as soon as he took the stage. Synchronous movement of his eyes and body along with very meaningful hastas effectively communicated the bhava of the chosen sahithya. Not keeping to mere Kouthvam, Kalidas linked the charanas interestingly making the item a full-fledged composition.

He did succeed in arresting the attention and bring out smiles in the patrons of dance art.

Nishant Panicker carried the spiritual aura forward with his Kathak rendition. Disciple of Guru Vibha Ramaswamy, he began with Sri Adishankaracharya's Shivapanchakshari Stotra and ending with excerpts from Maharaj Bindadin's Ashtapadi "Niratata Dhang," he placed a technical dance number in Dhamar Taal in between.

Nishant's big size did not hinder his performance ability. His nrutta, especially in the second of his item, was as mercurial as Kathak needs to be. The chakkars and footworks was so well-executed that he seemed to never set his foot on earth.

Shamanth S. Rao, with his performance, gave a short respite to the otherwise evening's spiritual flow with his effervescent display of his histrionics in Kuchipudi. Disciple of Guru Dr. Sanjay Shantaram, Shamanth presented in his first segment, an ode to Lord Ganesha set to a very unique Ganapathy Tala and was in Raga Malike and in his second, he performed a Tyagaraja Krithi "Yela Nee Daya raadhu?" in Athaana Raga and Aadhi Tala.

Shamanth, in both the dance numbers, danced with abandonment to an already very chirpy style of Classical Dance. His quick paced movements with very precise angas was like the sprightly deer in spring. Weather it was in the Ganesha Tala or in the abhinaya to Tyagaraja's krithi, he emoted very well and in accordance to the dictums of the dance form. A very promising artiste indeed.

Debasish Pattnaik, currently furthering under Guru Durga Charan Ranbir, gave a spell-bounding performance with a composition on Shiva and another on Krishna. While the "Ashtashambhu" in Malkouns Raag and Tripata Taal, written by Guru Ramahari Das, explored the various manifestation of Shiva during His leelas of Madana Bhasma, Daksha Vinashana, Veda Taranga, Garala Kantha, Pasupatastra Pradana, Shouri Virodha, Chandra Vibhushana and Ardhanareeshwara, in his second song he goes through various leelas of Bala Krishna through Poet Banamali's poetry "Kede Chanda Janeylo Sakhe..." in raga Kaharwa set to Tripata Taal with special exploration on Pootana Moksha and Vishwaroop darshan to mother Yashoda.

Debasish was in his finest elements on the day. Odissi known for its suppleness and laasya, Debasish gave us a new perspective or possibility of doing Odissi as sukumara tandava, especially in his expounding of ashta shambhu. The Pootana Mokasha and Vishwaroopa in the open mouth of Krishna drew applause for its effective story unfolding. The artiste's performance was the cherry on the cake.

Showered constantly, with women artistes, in dance concerts, this festival, showcasing male dancers, was truly a whiff of fragrant freshness. One left the auditorium with a satisfied statement "Men too can dance, and dance beautifully."

Treading the Traditional Path

By Dr. Padmavathi Narasimhan

Vocalist Kartik Narayanan from Chennai gave a vocal recital at Sri Nadabrahma Sangeetha Sabha on Apr.27. He was accompanied on violin by Mysore Sumanth, mridanga by Sai Shiv Lakshmi Keshav and ghata by Vikram Bharadwaj.

Kartik Narayanan presenting a vocal concert at Sri Nadabrahma Sangeetha Sabha on Apr.27. He was accompanied by Mysore Sumanth on violin, Sai Shiv Lakshmi Keshav on mridanga and Vikram Bharadwaj on ghata.

Kartik is a disciple of well-known musician Rajakumar Bharati. While he has adapted the style from his Guru, his hard work shows in his rendition. He has earned the title 'Nadakishora' in the 'Nadakishorotsava' held by Sri Nadabrahma Sangeetha Sabha, Mysuru, seven years ago.

Kartik could connect with the listeners right from the opening varna 'Evvari bodhana' in Abhogi. 'Gajamukhana Archisi' in Hamsadhwani was a good choice, which also brought crisp swaras. 'Mamava Sada Janani' by Swati Tirunal in Kanada and 'Ra Ra Mainti' in Asaveri by Tyagaraja is a composition which should be handled with delicacy, bringing out the raga bhava in the composition. Kartik did justice to the composition.

Bilahari was a lucid elaboration. The alapana and the kriti rendition stood out for classical purity. Choosing 'Shree Chamundeshwari Palaya Maam' by Mysore Vasudevacharya, Kartik gave full vent to his innate creativity in the neraval at "Raaka Nishachara Sannibha Vadane' and innovative swaras.

Sumanth was good and faithfully followed the main artiste. Sai Shiv Lakshmi Keshav and Vikram reveled in their dexterous display.

Kartik ventured to sing a short pallavi in the post-tani part. It was ayati pallavi — the first going in the descending order and the latter half in the ascending order.

The lyrics were — 'Chandra Shekhara Gunanidhe Shekhara Gunanidhe Saananda Sacchidaananda,' set to four kales. After the elaboration which included the neraval, swaras and the anuloma-viloma in three speeds, Kartik created swaras in ragamalika in Suruti, Chandrajyoti and Kannada. The concert concluded with T.V. Gopala Krishnan's tillana in Kadanakutoohala, which was delightful.

Retro-fitted vehicle damaged

Many vehicles were damaged in Thursday's heavy rain near Jaganmohan Palace in city. It is a matter of concern as a vehicle of a differently-abled person, parked next to my friend's Activa, was also damaged when tree branches fell on them. Life must be really difficult for that person without the vehicle which helps him or her to move around. Hope the retro-fitted vehicle is revived soon.

Flooding at Rly. under-bridge

There are some Railway under-bridges near BM Sri Nagar, Mysuru, which connect Bengaluru-Mysuru Bypass Ring Road but the under-bridges get flooded during rains thus inconveniencing the motorists, especially two-wheeler riders. In spite of repeated complaints, no government official has turned up to hear the woes of tax-paying motorists or set right the problem.

Hebbal Industrial Area turns into a garbage dump

Huge plastic bottle waste.

Polluted water being released into storm water drain.

Mysuru, May 27 (OSR)- Hebbal Industrial Area is slowly turning into a garbage dumping yard. Waste, garbage, construction waste and the refuse generated during weddings and other events are being carried in autorickshaws and trucks and are dumped wherever there are open grounds in the Industrial Area. If this situation continues, in a few months, the whole area could become a dumping yard, fear industrialists.

Polluted water is being released everyday into the storm water drain that runs right next to the compound of Bharatiya Reserve Bank Note Mudran Private Limited near the Ring Road.

Contaminated water from industries, choultries, complexes and water tanks that have chemically mixed water are let into the storm water drain. As a result, the whole area stinks, complain industrialists.

A mound of waste is lying on HP Gas Road. Waste generated in hotels, weddings and other functions that include paper sheets, paper cups, plates, plastic bottles, waste food, and vegetables are all collected and dumped next to Preethi Granite where there is an open space. Even though the mound of waste is lying since many days, it has not been cleared.

As big trucks are parked on Hebbal Lake Road, it not only affects the flow of traffic it also ruins the cleanliness of the place. Since there is no truck terminal in the Industrial Area, trucks that come to MSIL (Mysore Sales International Limited) godown are parked by the side of the road. This not only causes problems for other vehicles but also the drivers of the trucks use roadsides as open toilets.

Even in Koorgalli Industrial Area, waste is collected from surrounding villages in trucks and autorickshaws and is being dumped in open spaces.

If authorities do not take suitable action, then the whole industrial area will turn into dumping yards. Industrialists and workers will then be exposed to communicable diseases.

Besides, this practice of dumping waste anywhere will also have an adverse impact on environment, said Mysuru Industries Association General Secretary Suresh Kumar Jain.

New dumping yards to come up in city

Mysuru, May 27 - In a bid to dispose industrial waste in a scientific manner, dumping yards are being established at four places in city. One more dumping yard is coming up in a two-acre land at Koorgalli soon. Also, a construction and demolition waste recycling plant is also poised to come up in the Mysuru City Corporation limits.

In the absence of a dumping yard, packing materials, plastic wastes, machinery scrap, batteries, oil, metal scrap and electronic waste, including computer components, was being dumped on the roadside, on the foreshore of the lakes or in vacant sites.

As garbage and other waste generated is not being disposed of from time to time, tonnes of garbage piles have stocked up at Sewage Farm in Vidyaranyapuram which has become a challenge for the authorities for effective disposal.

Hence, based on the directive from the Deputy Commissioner, Karnataka State Pollution Control Board, Karnataka Industrial Area Development Board (KIADB) and the District Industries Centre (DIC) have decided to establish dumping yards.

There are hundreds of small, medium, big and heavy industries functioning at 14 industrial areas in Mysuru city and surrounding areas — Yadavagiri, Hebbal, Metagalli and Koorgalli Industrial Areas. While most industries dispose only some waste through dealers, remaining waste is being dumped on the sides of the Outer Ring Road and other roads.

Construction waste dumped in open space.

Seeing piles of industrial waste dumped indiscriminately on roadsides, the Pollution Control Board issued a circular to all industries asking them not to dump waste on roadsides failing which action would be initiated against such industries. Despite this, industrial waste was seen dumped on roadsides.

In this backdrop, Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar chaired a meeting at his office recently and instructed KIADB officials to identify land to establish dumping yards. He also ordered to identify government lands and private ones so that the latter can be taken on lease.

Following the DC's orders, KIADB officials are in the process of searching for land at Yadavagiri, Hebbal and Metagalli Industrial Areas. A two-acre land has been identified at Koorgalli and the land would be used for the dumping yard.

M.B. Prakash, Environmental Officer at the Pollution Control Board, speaking to Star of Mysore, said that large quantity of non-usable waste is being generated by industries at various industrial areas which were not being disposed of scientifically. "This not only posed a threat to the health of the local community but posed a danger to the groundwater table in the long run," he said.

If action is not taken now, it would be as same as the Sewage Farm which would be a challenge. Hence the dumping yard is being established, he added. He further said that metal, paper and spare parts waste generated from industries are being sent for reuse.

"We do not want a mere dumping yard for industrial waste but we want to establish a full-fledged recycling and processing plant so as to recover as much of the scrap material for reuse as possible. The proposal is to ensure that nothing goes to the landfills in future and only such items that cannot be recycled may have to be incinerated under high temperatures," said Prakash.

Regarding hazardous waste, there is immediate action as the waste is transported in concealed containers to Dobbespet in Bengaluru rural where there are facilities to handle it.

Industries should segregate waste such as hazardous materials, glass and other such waste into red section and other wastes into yellow section and wet and dry wastes into green section and hand over the same to the Pollution Control Board and the Board would dispose the waste scientifically, said D.K. Lingaraju, Joint Director, District Industries Centre

"There are 14 industrial areas in the district where small, medium, big and heavy industries are functioning. By establishing dumping yards, it would be easy to dispose the waste scientifically and problems pertaining to disposal of such waste would not arise in future," he added.

Construction and Demolition recycling plant

The State Government has given its consent for a Construction and Demolition (C&D) waste recycling plant for city. MCC officials said that a revised Detailed Project Report (DPR) has been sought by the government which is fast-tracking the facility. It will have a capacity to recycle 100 tonnes of building debris which will be recycled to make tiles and other construction materials.

Six acres of land has been identified at Koppaluru on the Mysuru-Nanjangud road adjoining the lorry terminal and the authorities are confident of completing the project within six months from the date of final clearance. If all goes well as per plans, Mysuru will be the first city in Karnataka after a few Indian Metropolitan cities to have this plant.

The plant will convert C&D waste into ready-mix concrete, cement bricks, hollow bricks, pavement blocks, kerb stones, concrete bricks and M-Sand thereby reducing the consumption of fresh stones and sand and at the same time mitigating the damage caused to environment.

WORD OF THE DAY

Zibeline

Pronunciation: ZIB-uh-leen.

Meaning: A soft lustrous wool fabric with mohair, alpaca, or camel's hair.

Origin: Though zibeline is woven from the hair of alpacas, camels, or Angora goats, its name actually traces back to a Slavic word for the sable, a small mammal related to the weasel. The Slavic term was adopted into Old Italian, and from there it passed to Middle French, then on to English in the late 1500s. English zibeline originally referred to the sable or its fur, but in the 19th century it developed a second sense, applying to a soft, smooth, slightly furry material woven from a mixture of animal hairs. It's especially suited to women's suits and coats.

Example: It's a simple, elegant design: high-collar, buttons, long sleeves, with lace and a sheer bodice. Its fabric catches the light very delicately—Bridges found the thick zibeline in London. — Hunter Harris, Vulture, 5 Jan. 2018.

THE ODD WORD

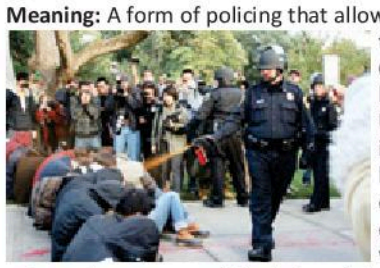
Zetetic

Proceeding by inquiry or investigation.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Zero tolerance

Meaning: A form of policing that allows no crime or anti-social behaviour to be overlooked.



Origin: As the name of a form of policing this term came into use in the USA in the 1970s. This method typically involved allocating additional law-enforcement resources to areas where some form of crime, for example, mugging or prostitution, was endemic and then applying the strict and uncompromising letter of the law. The term was reported in The New York Times in December 1972: "Federal officials say the calculations were based on 'assuming zero tolerance' from now on for ineligibility and overpayments."

The person most closely associated with the policy of zero tolerance on drug crime in the USA was William von Raab, who was the U.S. Commissioner of Customs during the Reagan and first Bush administrations and an architect of the so-called 'War on Drugs'.

The name, as well as the policing method, has since migrated to other countries. The term appears to have been adapted from a previous usage by the US Food and Drug Administration, where 'zero tolerance' was used to describe the amounts of pesticides that were allowable in foodstuff, like milk for example.
